Message from New Director Robert Brock

Hi, hello, g'day, Brocky Rules! I'm not sure how to greet you all, but firstly, thank you for being supporters of the Peter Brock Foundation. My name is Robert Brock, I'm currently a director of the PBF, I am very proud to be part of the board and where PBF is headed. The community days we've had like Brocky's Big Day Out sponsored by ARMOR ALL this year were a smashing success, the turn out was over capacity as far as the amazing collection of cars and crowd. Garth and Leanne Tander were gracious enough to donate their time in support as Ambassadors of the PBF.

On that, we have some grand programs in the pipeline that will help promote and give focus on driving education, as I'm sure most of you have seen, there have been a high number of accidents resulting in deaths recently. Speaking from personal experience, I know how much it hurts to lose a loved one, even one as talented in a car as my father was, and that if it can happen to him, then it can happen to the rest of us. I want to make the world safer for driving for son, Peter Graham, my Nephews, and my Niece. Yes I'm a sentimental fool, but I couldn't resist naming my son after his grandfathers.

I'd also like to let introduce a new Director, Phil Munday. He is a long time friend of the family and a partner in crime when it came do some of Dad's more interesting automotive projects. The last few Brocky's Big Day's Out included Phil's cars that were built for Dad, including the car taken to Goodwood. His expertise, passion and enthusiasm are a very welcome addition to the PBF. As always, the foundation is still dedicated to helping those in need.

Message from Ambassadors Garth and Leanne Tander

Being ambassadors at Brocky's Big Day Out was a real buzz for me and wife Leanne, as it's not often that we get the opportunity to chat with performance car owners and club enthusiasts in such a relaxed, convivial atmosphere. Learning the art of being a blacksmith in forging leaves for a giant size bushfire memorial was another plus for us in what was a great day out.
